

I have a teacup pig. his name is henry. he is a year and 8 months old. He weighs between 250 and 300 pounds. i was just like many others and was scammed by being told he wouldn't get over 40 pounds. Henry is like my 4th child lol. He will always have a home with me. He doesnt come in the house rite now because he has gotten to big to climb the stairs. We are hoping to get a new porch and ramp for him. He fell down the steps and it scared him and me. Luckily he wasnt hurt but scared. Henry is very happy with his little house outside with our 3 dogs . I hang outside with him. I take out a sheet and he suns with me. I love him. His size doesnt matter to me. but because he's so big we now have to fix him a special ramp to come inside for his own safety. Henry is potty trained and sits for a treat. He does love his mommom :-) Henry is the best farm kid I have. I am one of the lucky pig owners that lives in the country. I do feel so bad for the pigs that can't stay with there mommys because they got to big for there homes.

Thank you Dena
